Winners Need Not Be Present!
Dear Parishioners,

With the Fourth of July weekend, we are now in the heart of summer. As we celebrate Independence Day, have fun and keep safe. Enjoy the Stewart Manor parade of fire trucks and all sorts of water fights! Enjoy the beach trips, the backyard barbecues and other excursions. Surely these days are ones to rejoice in our freedom and to share time with family friends. We need to be especially mindful of the need for sober driving so that all families may use safely the streets and highways of our community. Be sure to let someone else drive when necessary. Happy Independence Day!

This past week was a small milestone for Fr. Rudy and me. After more than nine months we were both able to return to our rooms in the rectory. It felt good to sleep upstairs again. It feels like moving into a new house which I’ve never done! Again thank you for your concern and support during these months. The parish offices should return to the rectory building around August 1.

This past week the Finance Committee of the parish met. As is done at each quarterly meeting, we reviewed income and expense reports for the year for both the parish and the school. We continue to operate “in the black” for the 2015-2016 fiscal year and project that we will conclude the fiscal year with a positive result. The fiscal year concludes August 31, 2016. The parish school also indicates positive numbers that include a parish subsidy to the school within diocesan guidelines of 15% of Sunday offerings. The Finance Committee also reviewed the budget for the 2016-17 fiscal year for the parish and the school. The committee approved the budget and are joined in that process by our parish trustees, Susan Donnelly and Lilly Schwieger. Finance Committee Chairman Tim Conlon signs off with them on the budget.

Our Finance Committee is very diligent in its work. Members carefully review our budget lines and bring their questions to the meetings. I find their questions often bring notice to me of issues I may have overlooked. Our Parish Operations and Business Manager, Mrs. Mary Lou Engrassia does a fabulous job overseeing the execution of the budget and financial matters for both the parish and the school. With your generosity, Mrs. Engrassia’s expertise, and the oversight of the Finance Committee and the parish trustees, financially, we remain a healthy and vibrant parish. I think it is fair to say that the financial health of the parish mirrors the dynamic vibrancy of our parish ministries, activities, and organizations.

This past week’s meeting of the Finance Committee lasted nearly 2 1/2 hours, a little longer than most. The concluding part of the meeting centered around a discussion of the proposals to expand the rectory for the purpose of increased meeting and ministry space. This expansion would occur at the east end of the present rectory and extend onto the land parcel of the former convent. The expansion would add office space and a proposed meeting space. The Finance Committee has affirmed the need for increased ministry space. This includes space for the ministries of Parish Social Ministry, Faith Formation, Liturgy and Music, and Pastoral Ministry. The Finance Committee recommends more analysis regarding parish meeting space. This analysis can be completed by reviewing this past year of meetings and attendance at these meetings. The refurbished parish rectory will include only one meeting room. Before the fire, there were three additional smaller meeting rooms. When this analysis of our use of space is complete, results will be shared with all the parish. I think we will find it illuminating for us all. My belief is that no one person, including myself, is aware of all that happens here at St. Anne’s. Between a young mom and toddlers group, the Senior Scene, the Anonymous groups and Scouting, the Networking Group and Divorced and Separated, the Prayer Groups and CYO, our buildings during the school year are often in operation from 7:00a.m. to 9:00p.m. It is not unusual for there to be three or four meetings at a time some evenings.

Altar Servers

We have some of the best altar servers in the Church. And we have wonderful parents of altar servers who make lots of family adjustments so that their children can be here to serve at the altar of the Lord. We have all observed how our new altar servers can begin their ministry a little unsure and tentative about what happens next during the celebration of Mass! How amazing and how quickly they become master servers. Sometimes people comment about the patience of the priests and deacons with altar servers who are new. I marvel at the altar servers with their patience for all the quirks and inconsistencies of the priests and deacons in celebrating Mass! The patience of the altar servers often far exceeds the clergy’s patience!

Sr. Judy organizes our altar servers. So many parishioners so often speak so fondly and appreciatively of Sr. Judy and her liturgical ministry at St. Anne’s. Well, the altar servers experienced once again the kindness of Sr. Judy as she accompanied them on an altar server trip this past Wednesday.

The altar servers went “zip-lining” while Sr. Judy remained feet firmly planted on the ground, and prayed for safe landings for all of her zip-lining altar servers. Her prayers worked and all “altar server zip-liners” returned safely home at 4:00. Continued thanks to our many altar servers, their parents, and Sr. Judy!

Enjoy a Happy Independence Day!

~Luke 10: 3-4

Many of us will have the opportunity to travel, near and far, over the summer months. Although I love it when I am sitting on a beach or relaxing with family, my least favorite part of any trip is the packing and unpacking which precedes and follows a vacation. Wouldn’t it be nice if we, like the 72 disciples whom Jesus sent out, could travel with just the clothing on our backs? Now, I know it sounds impractical, but think of how much more attentive we could be to our surroundings and the people we meet. That was Jesus’s purpose in telling the disciples not to be burdened with what they need to bring with them but to concentrate on the people in the towns and villages they were to visit. Jesus’s message was to listen to and spread the word of God to those with whom you visit. Being present to those we are with and keeping God in mind makes for a rejuvenating, exceptional vacation.

Happy travels!

You can be a disciple

In order to help the children of St. Anne’s Faith Formation program develop their faith, 2 elements are essential: the active involvement of parents and the generosity of parishioners in volunteering to take part in the Faith Formation program. Teens, parents, adults, and retired persons are needed to assist us in our Faith Formation program. Please consider volunteering some of your time and faith to this important discipleship. There are many levels at which you can be involved. Your contribution to your parish and your faith will be a gift to others and to yourself.

Faith Formation Office Hours

During the summer months, the Faith Formation staff will be checking into the office on an occasional basis. If you would like to reach us, please e-mail (lbeck@stannesgc.org) or leave a message at (516) 488-1032 and we will get back to you as soon as possible. Have a restful summer.
"At that time the Lord appointed seventy-two others whom he sent ahead of him in pairs to every town and place he intended to visit."

Were these seventy-two disciples surprised to be sent out two by two? Were they a bit unsure that they could proclaim that the kingdom of God is at hand? Leaving the closeness of Jesus must have been hard. But Jesus had confidence in them. Indeed the harvest was abundant and they were to labor in this harvest. Each day we, too, walk out into the harvest, the harvest of our neighborhoods and work places. Do we remember that our calling is to harvest for the kingdom of God? It can be a daunting task! In the thirteenth century, Saint Dominic, like Jesus, sent out his first friars two by two to preach. We are told that they were unsure that they were up to the task. But Saint Dominic had confidence in them and mostly importantly in God. He sent them with this command “Go in confidence for the Lord will give you the gift of preaching, You will want for nothing!” Each day as you, too, go out remember that the Lord is always with you and you will have all you need. “The kingdom of God is at hand for you.”

Colossians 1: 15-20
Luke 10:25-37

When Pope Francis visited the United States last September he raised Junipero Serra to sainthood at a mass at the National Shrine in Washington. St. Junipero Serra was born on the island of Majorca on November 24, 1713. He entered the Franciscan Order and was ordained a priest in 1734. He first taught philosophy and theology at the University of Padua until 1749. In 1750 at the age of thirty seven, Junipero landed in Mexico City and spent the rest of his life working for the conversion of the people of the New World. He is credited with establishing twenty one missions on the California coast. He was a dedicated religious and missionary. He also taught sound methods of agriculture, cattle raising and arts and crafts. He died on August 28, 1784. A statue of his likeness represents the State of California in the National Statuary Hall at the Capitol in Washington.

St. Junipero Serra, pray for all missionaries and pray for us as we try each day to live as disciples of Jesus.
A Pilgrimage to the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception

As you approach the National Shrine you are struck by its beauty and size. Standing next to the campus of Catholic University, the shrine has been a place of pilgrimage and prayer. This basilica is the pre-eminent Marian shrine in the United States. It honors Mary under the title of the Immaculate Conception, the patroness of our country. Built as a medieval church without structural steel beams, framework or columns, it is built entirely of stone, brick, tile and mortar. It’s 65 chapels are filled with beautiful mosaics, sculptures and art.

On Saturday, September 24th you have an opportunity to experience this beautiful basilica as part of our Diocesan pilgrimage for the Year of Mercy. Saint Anne’s is offering a bus for our parishioners. The bus will leave St. Anne’s at 5:45AM and return after the closing Mass at 4:15PM. We will have the opportunity to walk through the Holy Door and receive a plenary indulgence for this Year of Mercy.

RCIA

Interested in learning more about the Catholic faith?

Perhaps you have been thinking about becoming a baptized member of the Catholic Church, perhaps you have been baptized a Christian and now would like to become a member of the Catholic Church, perhaps you have not received all the Sacraments of Initiation, Baptism, Confirmation, and Eucharist, then perhaps the RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults) is for you!

The RCIA is a process, a journey of faith. It is about people, people on the move, people being remade in the image of Christ and reborn in the Spirit, people on a journey toward faith. Through this gradual, and comprehensive process individuals are trained in the Christian way of life, come to know Jesus Christ through the Catholic community and learn to live as Jesus’ disciples, continuing the mission of Jesus Christ in the world today.

Does this sound like what you are seeking? Do you know anyone who is seeking the Catholic faith? Please contact Sister Judy at Saint Anne’s Parish Office (352-5904) or srjudy@stannesgc.org for more information. RCIA meetings begin in October.

There are pamphlets in the lobby of the church, Five Reasons to Consider the Catholic Church and What Can the Church Offer Me?. Please take one for yourself or to pass on to someone you know who might be ready for the RCIA.
We welcome those newly baptized into our faith community

The Lot for Tots Eagle Project

• Have you ever attended school at St. Anne’s?
• Do you know anyone who attended school here?
• Does seeing children play or hearing them laugh make you smile?
• Do you enjoy going outside sometimes for some fresh air?
• At any point in time were you ever a child?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, I would like to invite you to be part of something special...

Hi, my name is Ryan Malloy. I am a lifelong member of our parish, a graduate of St. Anne’s School and a Life Scout in our Boy Scout Troop, 134. The lot behind the school has been in need of refurbishing for quite some time. I remember how happy I was riding the tricycles in the back of the building when I was in Nursery school and wishing I still could while putting the toys away for the children each day when I was in eighth grade. For my Eagle project, I hope to clean, repair, refresh and paint the area. This project will bring much happiness to the children and teachers, as well as set an example to previous, current and future students of all schools to give back to the people and places which impacted their lives when given the opportunity to do so. As Baden Powell, founder and first Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of America, once said, “The real way to gain happiness is to give to others.”

In order to accomplish this goal, I really need your assistance. If you would be kind enough to donate to this project or have any knowledge or expertise that could help facilitate its completion, I would greatly appreciate any help you can offer.

Checks may be made payable to St. Anne’s Church and sent to the parish office at 35 Dartmouth St. Garden City, NY 11530. Please indicate that your donation is for the “Lot for Tots Eagle Project.” If you have any advice, suggestions or questions you may email me at lot4tots@gmail.com.

Thank you very much for your time and I am sincerely grateful for your support.

Preventing Cyberbullying in Online Gaming, Part 1
By Sameer Hinduja, Ph.D.

Online gaming is a huge part of daily life for many teens. It’s a great way for them to interact with one another, enjoy leisure time, get caught up in an epic storyline and develop skills related to personal and professional success—such as focus, determination and creativity. Our most recent research from 2015 indicates that 76 percent of youth surveyed own a gaming console, and 58 percent of kids play online every day. Interestingly, almost 39 percent consider themselves a “gamer” and fewer than 23 percent stated, “I don’t really play video games.” Based on the research, the vast majority do play video games, they are reasonably proficient and they allow their gaming to make up a meaningful portion of their lives.

There are a few game consoles that currently dominate the market, and kids also love their handheld devices to meet their gaming needs. The types of games that are played include boxed games, digital downloads, subscriptions, “free-to-play” games, free apps, and social networking games.\(^1\)

We want youth to have an enjoyable online gaming experience, but there seems to be scarce information out there for caring adults and youth about how to promote healthy interactions through gaming and prevent harmful ones. To be sure, a meaningful amount of information is being circulated with regard to smart social media use; however, kids and the adults who care for them are comparatively less informed about gaming safety practices. As such, we want to provide some strategies you can employ to help kids interact and participate in online gaming with wisdom, discretion and with various protections in place. None are overly complicated, but they do require some time to understand and then convey in a gentle but persuasive manner. We hope you find them useful in your interaction with youth as you work to do all you can to reduce the risk of victimization in their connected gaming environments.

For the youth in your care, develop an interest in their online activities
First and foremost, if adults have youth within their care, they should get involved in the youths’ online activities. Caring adults and parents can do this by engaging in a conversation with their kids about their online gaming practices, experiences, successes and struggles. It is necessary to learn about what game(s) the child is playing so you can evaluate the content for yourself.

CommonSenseMedia.org is a great way to obtain detailed reviews on certain games before giving the child permission to play them.\(^2\) For example, a quick Internet search revealed that one of the most popular video games among teens is “Not For Kids” and is rated “Age 18+.”\(^3\)

Actively playing video games with the child is a great “quality time” investment because it promotes bonding, cultivates a shared interest, allows you to enter their world and provides some informal deterrence and monitoring without appearing too intrusive. The following is a story from the mother of a 13-year-old boy in Florida who became aware of another user’s bad behavior just by playing the game with her son and also by being around him while he played:

My son was playing a game League of Legends. It seemed ok at first; I even played a little with him, the person was mad because of how the game was going. I was just a desk away and saw tears rolled off his cheek. When I asked what was said he showed me the screen and WOW. I myself have never met anyone so vulgar in my life, the person went on and on saying how he would murder and hunt his family down. The reporting system for that game goes only as far as putting them on ignore, when you try to contact the company about this person they simply said, ‘Ignore that person.’ Ignore someone who talks in great detail how and what he would do to a member of a child's family? Found out this happens all the time, and the company cares nothing about it, in fact most games of those type all have the same kind of people and muting them doesn’t stop it.

Week of sending emails to a few of these Games’ and I get the same response ‘Mute or stop playing.’ What about getting rid of these people who think having online access is a right to treat anyone like total garbage! Need better laws or some tools to police what these people say.

We have neighborhood watch programs why can’t we have volunteer moderators watching in game chats? It’s not safe for any child to play any game with chat features.

Talk to your kids about the reality of trolls

If you are not familiar with the term, a troll is someone who instigates arguments or upsets others online by making “inflammatory, extraneous or off-topic” comments with the intent to provoke the readers of these comments. Chances are, if you’ve played an interactive game with others via a console or computer, you’ve been exposed to trash talking, insults, obscenities, sexual comments, racial epithets and other forms of harassment. It is inevitable that a child will deal with this if he or she is playing the most popular games teens and younger youth enjoy. Adults should help children fully understand that “trolls” are there to push the youths’ emotional buttons through inflammatory comments and demonstrate power and superiority over them. That being said the time worn adage, “do not feed the trolls” is true. Adults should remind kids to never give trolls a reaction because that is exactly what they’re looking for. Instead, kids should ignore, block and report any users who abuse them verbally (or otherwise compromise their gaming experience) while online. Alternatively, kids might try to “dish it back” to the trolls to show that the derogatory comments don’t bother them, but sometimes that doesn’t stop the problem and may even make it worse. It is best, therefore, for kids to simply refrain from responding at all, similar to the experience highlighted below:

While racing and winning (I am quite good at racing games in general) I got into what seemed like a normal conversation with one of my opponents. Our conversation had led to where we lived. It was just after Hurricane Katrina. I told him that I lived in New Orleans, and he immediately came in with some of the most hateful, ignorant and racist speak I’ve ever had directed toward me. So this guy was the very definition of a troll. Losing at a racing game was so important to him that he decided to be as hateful as humanly possible toward a complete stranger. If I only somewhat avoided online games up until that point, I now never play online unless it’s with people I personally know.

Set limits

Next, it's important for parents to limit the number of hours a child can play online. Caring adults should also strive to have children engage in a range of activities to make them well rounded. This is a developmental time period when children can learn discipline and balance, as well as learn how to prioritize in order to not become caught up in hobbies that undermine academic pursuits. In addition, there's also a real concern about repetitive stress injuries and disruption in sleep patterns due to excessive gaming and screen usage. So, the bottom line is to set rules and stick to them.

In Part 2 of our article we will provide strategies specific to rating systems, passwords, blocking and reporting individuals, mods and updated console software. They will add to the toolbox of tips to help the youth in your care to stay safe while remaining active in their online gaming experiences.
