Monsignor William F. Costello
1926 - 2006

Monday, July 18th is the tenth anniversary of the death of Monsignor William F. Costello. He will be remembered at the 8:30AM Mass on July 18th. Our faith community fondly remembers this beloved and faith-filled priest, whose wit and wisdom were a gift to us here at Saint Anne’s. We were truly blessed by his presence.

MOMS selling mums - one of the many wonderful traditions of Spirit Day.

Help Feed the Hungry

In this Year of Mercy, perhaps your family could practice this Corporal Work of Mercy and make donating food their summer service project.

Parishioners assist with a recent food delivery to Saint Mary of the Isle in Long Beach

All Are Welcome!

We welcome new members to join our parish family. Please contact the parish office. We also welcome any adult who was never baptized, baptized non-Catholics or those seeking to receive First Eucharist or Confirmation to become a full participant in the Catholic Church.
Altar Servers at Long Island Adventure Park

On Wednesday, June 29th the altar servers enjoyed a day at the Long Island Adventure Park. They experienced zip-lining and many other activities! We are grateful for the service of our altar servers throughout the year!
Saint Anne’s MOMs continue their annual tradition of selling mums at Spirit Day to support the parish. These gorgeous blossoms are the perfect way to decorate your autumn garden and all are encouraged to show their support by buying one, or maybe two, beautiful plants at the MOMs booth. The hardy 9-inch mums come in a variety of beautiful colors and arrive fresh from the Stakey Nursery in Suffolk County.

Flowers can be purchased throughout the day but for parishioners who buy early and do not want to carry the mums around while they enjoy Spirit Day events, there is a pay and reserve section where flowers are flagged and kept for later pick up. Wagons are also available to transport flowers to your car.

“The MOMs look forward to supporting Spirit Day and the parish with our plant sale,” explains president Amy Doggendorf. “Our booth not only sells mums, but also is an opportunity for new families to meet mothers of young children and find out more about our MOMs group.”

Saint Anne’s MOMs group welcomes new mothers within the parish as well as moms looking to join Saint Anne’s Church. Spirit Day is just one of many ways in which the Saint Anne's MOMs participate in the good works of the parish. Through the MOMs ministries, members can make meals for other moms with new babies and support members going through challenging times. In addition to collecting food and necessary items for various Loaves and Fishes initiatives throughout the year, we also sponsor families in Wyandanch for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Our Faith & Friendship group encourages members to pray together and coordinates the Church Discovery program where mothers and young children explore our beautiful church once a month.

“Our group utilizes both the school and parish facilities for our meetings and events,” continues Doggendorf. “We, like so many other groups in the parish, benefit directly from the fundraising efforts of Spirit Day and are happy to lend our support.” For membership information regarding Saint Anne’s MOMs, please contact the MOMs directly at stannesmoms@gmail.com

The Church of St. Anne is hosting our 14th annual Spirit Day on Saturday, September 17, 2016 from 1-10pm with rides, games and music all day and evening. The day is highlighted with a beautiful celebration of Mass outdoors at 5pm and the exciting Big Bucks Raffle drawing at 10pm. Additional Big Bucks tickets are always available at the parish office or you may call and we will be happy to mail one to you. Please call the Saint Anne’s Parish Office at (516) 352-5904 or visit www.stannesgc.org for more information.

Ill or Hospitalized?

Federal regulations prevent hospitals from indicating if a patient is Catholic and wishes to receive the sacraments unless the patient expressly wishes to release that information. If you or someone you love is ill or hospitalized and would like to receive the Sacrament of Anointing of the Sick, Holy Eucharist or the Sacrament of Reconciliation, you may notify the hospital chaplain or call Saint Anne’s at 352-5904 to see a priest from our parish. We are here to help if you give us a call!

From the family of Bill Boone

It is with sincere regret I inform you that my dad passed away on June 6th. I would appreciate it if you could put something in Sunday’s bulletin. Please note that he loved the school and church so very much.

“And who is my neighbor?”
~Luke 10: 29

Jesus’s answer to the question above comprises the best known parable in the Gospels. The Good Samaritan is a metaphor used by Jesus to illustrate the demand of love that He requires of us all. The love and mercy Jesus asks of us bring us in closer union with Him. A merciful heart is one that sees the needs of others and works to fill their needs with empathy and kindness. Whether it is a crying child, a hungry person, a grieving soul, or one in need of prayer, a merciful, loving person does what he or she can to reach out and provide what is needed.

During these summer months when we may have more opportunities to spend time with our children, let’s look for opportunities to model kindness and love for others. Help your children find opportunities when they can directly show kindness and mercy to others, as well. Make it a habit to reach out to others.

You can be a disciple: In order to help the children of St. Anne’s Faith Formation program develop their faith, 2 elements are essential: the active involvement of parents and the generosity of parishioners in volunteering to take part in the Faith Formation program. Teens, parents, adults, and retired persons are needed to assist us in our Faith Formation program. Please consider volunteering some of your time and faith to this important discipleship. There are many levels at which you can be involved. Your contribution to your parish and your faith will be a gift to others and to yourself.

A Pilgrimage to the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception

As you approach the National Shrine you are struck by its beauty and size. Standing next to the campus of Catholic University, the shrine has been a place of pilgrimage and prayer. This basilica is the preeminent Marian shrine in the United States. It honors Mary under the title of the Immaculate Conception, the patroness of our country. Built as a medieval church without structural steel beams, framework or columns, it is built entirely of stone, brick, tile and mortar. It’s 65 chapels are filled with beautiful mosaics, sculptures and art.

On Saturday, September 24th you have an opportunity to experience this beautiful basilica as part of our Diocesan pilgrimage for the Year of Mercy. Saint Anne’s is offering a bus for our parishioners. The bus will leave St. Anne’s at 5:45AM and return after the closing Mass at 4:15PM. We will have the opportunity to walk through the Holy Door and receive a plenary indulgence for this Year of Mercy.

“And who is my neighbor... the one who treated him with mercy... Jesus said to him, ‘Go and do likewise.’”

In Jesus’ teachings he always brings us far beyond what we can imagine. He teaches us in this parable that a neighbor is not simply a victim, someone in need but anyone who deserves our love. And that includes everyone! Jesus’ commandment of love is not impossible for us because his own life showed us how to live loving relationships with others. Love has no limits as he showed us by even dying for us. We show our love for God by our love for others, all others! As we navigate our way through family, community, work, and even national and world relationships how do we measure up to the commandment to love one another? Reread today’s gospel (Luke 10: 25-37) and do as Jesus commands “Go and do likewise!”

Saint Camillus de Lellis was born in Italy in 1550 and after giving up a life of violence and gambling became a priest and later founded the Order of Clerks Regular Ministers to the Sick (the Camillians). This order dedicated themselves to the sick and whether they were ministering in a hospital or tending the wounded on a battlefield they were identified by their black habit with a large red cross on the breast. St. Camillus implemented many innovative approaches to hospital care, including proper ventilation, suitable diets, and isolation of people with infectious diseases. He is also credited with inventing field ambulances and military hospitals. St. Camillus is the patron saint of hospitals, nurses and the sick.

Saint Camillus de Lellis, pray for us!

RCIA

Interested in learning more about the Catholic faith? Perhaps you have been thinking about becoming a baptized member of the Catholic Church, perhaps you have been baptized a Christian and now would like to become a member of the Catholic Church, perhaps you have not received all the Sacraments of Initiation, Baptism, Confirmation, and Eucharist, then perhaps the RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults) is for you!

The RCIA is a process, a journey of faith. It is about people, people on the move, people being remade in the image of Christ and reborn in the Spirit, people on a journey toward faith. Through this gradual, and comprehensive process individuals are trained in the Christian way of life, come to know Jesus Christ through the Catholic community and learn to live as Jesus’ disciples, continuing the mission of Jesus Christ in the world today.

Does this sound like what you are seeking? Do you know anyone who is seeking the Catholic faith? Please contact Sister Judy at Saint Anne’s Parish Office (352-5904) or srjudy@stannesgc.org for more information. RCIA meetings begin in October.

There are pamphlets in the lobby of the church, Five Reasons to Consider the Catholic Church and What Can the Church Offer Me?. Please take one for yourself or to pass on to someone you know who might be ready for the RCIA.

The Lot for Tots Eagle Project

- Have you ever attended school at St. Anne’s?
- Do you know anyone who attended school here?
- Does seeing children play or hearing them laugh make you smile?
- Do you enjoy going outside sometimes for some fresh air?
- At any point in time were you ever a child?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, I would like to invite you to be part of something special...

Hi, my name is Ryan Malloy. I am a lifelong member of our parish, a graduate of St. Anne’s School and a Life Scout in our Boy Scout Troop, 134. The lot behind the school has been in need of refurbishing for quite some time. I remember how happy I was riding the tricycles in the back of the building when I was in Nursery school and wishing I still could while putting the toys away for the children each day when I was in eighth grade. For my Eagle project, I hope to clean, repair, refresh and paint the area. This project will bring much happiness to the children and teachers, as well as set an example to previous, current and future students of all schools to give back to the people and places which impacted their lives when given the opportunity to do so. As Baden Powell, founder and first Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of America, once said, “The real way to gain happiness is to give to others.”

In order to accomplish this goal, I really need your assistance. If you would be kind enough to donate to this project or have any knowledge or expertise that could help facilitate its completion, I would greatly appreciate any help you can offer.

Checks may be made payable to St. Anne’s Church and sent to the parish office at 35 Dartmouth St. Garden City, NY 11530. Please indicate that your donation is for the “Lot for Tots Eagle Project.” If you have any advice, suggestions or questions you may email me at lot4tots@gmail.com.

Thank you very much for your time and I am sincerely grateful for your support.
Preventing Cyberbullying in Online Gaming, Part 2

By Sameer Hinduja, Ph.D.

In Part 1 of this article, we shined a spotlight on the ubiquitous participation in online gaming in the lives of the youth we care for and seek to protect. The pace of online gaming is only growing, and it provides benefits many adults often overlook. That said, there is a small but real chance of victimization that can befall kids when they play and interact with others via their phones, tablets, laptops, desktops and gaming consoles.

In order to equip you to best educate and help protect young people from personal vulnerabilities while playing, we are sharing a number of best practices you can immediately adopt and convey to the youth you supervise. Previously, we encouraged you to pursue familiarity with the games youth play, highlight and guard against online provocation by "trolls" and set specific limits to promote discipline and balance. Below, we share seven additional safety tips that should round out your ability to be involved, respond to incidents and eventually prevent most of them from occurring.

Familiarize yourself with rating systems

The gaming industry is somewhat regulated by a number of third party rating systems that assess and represent the games created and released for the masses. These rating systems contain information such as categories, content and details on possible interaction with other gamers. The most respected ratings from the Entertainment Software Rating Board (ESRB) have three components:

Categories indicate the level of maturity needed to play the game in question (i.e., to help you determine whether the game is age-appropriate).

Content means whether the game contains profanity, nudity, etc.

Interaction means whether the game allows for contact from another gamer, provides the ability to share personal information or to pinpoint one’s location.

We recommend you clearly understand the ratings for every game the children in your life plays, and make usage decisions accordingly. Please refer to CommonSenseMedia.org to help fill in any knowledge gaps as it relates to game ratings.

Report It

A helpful way to teach children about handling problems is to encourage them to report issues when they arise. Internet service providers and gaming networks have systems set up to field complaints of abuse and then investigate them (in conjunction with law enforcement, when necessary). Caring adults should encourage kids to always take a few seconds to report other players within the game itself if they are being abusive or legitimately problematic. You can also work more specifically and individually with these companies, depending on the severity of harassment experienced. As per the ESRB, those who encounter unscrupulous gamers online should include as much information (nicknames, detailed patterns of behavior, online locations) and digital evidence as possible (screenshots, logs) to help the organizations investigate these matters.

I was on Clash of Clans, it's an app that I had on my phone. I was leaving my brother's clan because they were picking on me and finally I got kicked out. I asked if I could join a clan on global chat. I got lots of comments like ‘Wow, you suck’ and I got a lot worse comments that which [sic] I would not like to share.

Practice safe password practices

As we’ve seen in numerous instances over recent months (e.g., the Ashley Madison situation), hackers have become more and more prevalent in today’s society. One way to protect a young person’s account is to teach them to maintain strong passwords. Specifically, passwords should minimally have at least eight characters containing upper and lower case letters, unsequenced numbers, and symbols (e.g., $, %, &, #). This is a simple but effective way to ensure passwords are stronger. They should never be a nickname, birthdate, or something else that a person close to you might know or be able to find out. Many youth share passwords for purposes of convenience or bonding with one another, but that simply should not happen. Kids should not trust anyone with their passwords or personal information. Finally, parents should encourage kids not to use the same passwords across multiple gaming accounts. This is because if one account is compromised, others quickly may follow.
Control your online gaming experience

There are a number of customizable features available within each gaming environment. For example, Internet access can be completely disabled to prevent any online connectivity. If that is considered to be too extreme, we encourage families to allow participation on the online gaming network but with voice chat and text chat switched off. This basically means that the youth can play with/against other gamers, but not talk with them. If you want to allow some interactivity, however, all game consoles allow you to choose and/or restrict those who can contact you through their equivalent of a “buddy list.” Additionally, users can always “mute” specific people during a game. Please visit A Guide to Setting Up Parental Controls for Video Games (from the PTA and the ESRB), or Parental Controls on Xbox360™, Nintendo® Wii™ and PlayStation® 3 (from British Telecom) for specific instructions for each console.

Refrain from divulging personal information

Kids who interact with others online should never give out their personal information to strangers or even friends. Protecting personal information on the Internet is of paramount importance, and should never be disclosed. Information such as a person’s full name, physical address, phone, student ID and social security numbers should (obviously) never be shared in gaming environments. Furthermore, screennames should be used to provide a level of pseudonymity and youth should upload an avatar image into their profile for privacy reasons, instead of using their actual photo.

As an example of why kids should not trust others online, Henry, who is an 11-year-old player of the game Destiny, allowed a stranger to use his account via a feature on PS4’s Share Play his gaming console feature. The man was supposed to help Henry, but instead, the stranger not only deleted two of Henry’s three high-level characters (that he had spent months developing, training, and growing), but also began deleting his special weapons as well (which he had spent his hard-earned virtual money on). This was all caught on video. Once Henry realized what was happening, he switched off his PS4 console, but he was too late. At the end of the video, you can hear Henry sobbing and clearly devastated. Henry’s parents had the following response:

As Henry’s parents, we are constantly reminding him to be careful, to never share your personal information, to always be on the lookout. But the truth is, no matter how many times a parent says this to a kid, when you’re in the actual situation, it’s easier to trust people you think are your friends because someone you actually know in real life vouches for them.²

Avoid Mods

In the gaming world, mod is short for modification. Some online gamers offer mods to others, which allows a user to modify the content of a game and release certain (often adult-oriented) features or functionality, or otherwise provide a cheat, shortcut or other unethical benefit. These are available for many games. Kids should be wary of these game-related downloads from third parties. While it is tempting to play around with such modifications to see what they can do, they can introduce malicious code into the game, console, or portable device (making it unstable or even unusable).

Keep your consoles updated, clean and protected.

A final suggestion to promote safe gaming: ensure the latest firmware is updated in your console and device manufacturers to patch and secure any vulnerabilities in the operating system. Also, make sure the home network is behind a firewall to avoid viruses or worms from being introduced into the systems via the Internet connection. Lastly, use a strong password to protect the wireless Internet connection to prevent strangers from accessing the network and devices.

The gaming industry is growing at an incredible pace, and the technology involved is getting better with every passing year. Indeed, the environments in which individuals play together online will probably become more realistic, and the ways in which interaction via their devices can occur in the future are perhaps beyond our current imagination. Regardless of the changes that lay ahead, the aforementioned tips can help safeguard children’s participation. Encourage healthy usage, and then periodically check to make sure the strategies are effective and being followed. Hopefully in time, these safety measures will become standard practice to help youth stay protected against preventable online victimization while fostering a gratifying experience for all involved.

A helpful resource may be the Cyberbullying Research Center (cyberbullying.org) that has numerous free resources available.
